House Party

On Friday night, the quarterfinals of the Legg Mason Tennis Classic heated up at the William H.G. Fitzgerald Tennis Center in D.C.'s Rock Creek Park, as defending champion Andy Roddick was ousted from the tournament. At the same time, and just down the block, event planner André Wells opened the doors of his home for the Unofficial Legg Mason Tennis Classic Lawn Party, co-hosted with DC magazine. The evening marked the second Legg Mason event for Wells, and boasted a larger guest list of 150 thanks to the success of last year's party.

Windows Catering dished out Southern picnic treats such as shrimp and grits and open-face crab cake sandwiches. Waitstaff offered the SurReal Royale, a mix of grape vodka and champagne, to incoming guests. Passed hors d'oeuvres from Windows Catering included tomatoes skewered by a plastic injector filled with liquid mozzarella. Other passed bites included ahi tuna rolled in sesame seeds and topped with strawberry gelee.
